The citizens of Evansville, Indiaua, are busily engaged making preparations for the Evansville Centennial celebration to be held in that town on May 9, 10 and 11th. It will also be the annual state re-union of the Evansville department Grand Army O-On with Beauty, Cleanliness and of the Republic.

state is going to pay a fitting tribute to the hundreth anniversary of the entry of Indiana into the Union by a three day celebration that will overshadow any similar event ever undertaken in that hospitable southern Indiana city. Evansville, the Crescent city on the "American Rhine" has ever entertained her visitors in royal style. To surpass all previous festivals the Centennial celebration committee, numbering over two hundred business and professional men, will have on its program a spectacular historical, floral and industrial parade on May 10th given in honor of and headed by the veterans of the Civil war, of the Spanish American war, and their subsequent auxiliaries. There will be fifteen bands and over thirty costly floats in the parade. Governor Ralston will review the parade, as well as the heads of the national G. A. R.

One of the most unique and the first attempt of this kind, a pageant of giganic scope, will be staged at the immense Boss Field, the first and most up to date municipal, athletic stadium in Indiana with a seating capacity of over eight thousand. This historical pageant will require over two thousand people and will be divided into twenty episodes, ten to be given each night. It is the aim of those directing the pageant to give a vivid and realistic representation of his fifth wife when he married Mrs. the history of the Hoosier state on a mammoth stage, 200x370 feet with the most modern and elaborate illumination features, costly costuming and detailed staging, producing a specta- his office in the basement of the cle the like of which has never been courthouse. staged in this section of the country.
